(or buy into) when they get swept up by their emotions, and that's exactly what the government and mass media use as their greatest tool for their favorite type of thievery.

Fear is the most basic of human emotions, as it is programmed into the nervous system. In America, fear is big business, and there's no greater example than during the Wuhan virus pandemic.

The majority of Americans, over 270 million, let fear get the best of them, and sold their souls to quell that emotion, getting themselves and their children injected with millions of toxic prions, wearing bacteria-breeding masks 24/7/365, and sheltering in place to try to save themselves from the China flu. The trade off for the illusion of safety? People gave away their money, their health, and even their children. Why? They were brainwashed into it. Sure, most were already brainwashed to some degree, but in the case of the Fauci scamdemic, they bit off the emotional bait – hook, line, and sinker.

The inside scoop on media brainwashing by an ex-CBS investigative journalist

Turn on the news and you expect some objective reporting, but that's really reserved for local topics that don't make the government and/or big pharma the big bucks. Did a convenient store get robbed in your area? You will probably get all the true details about it (unless the clerk defended themselves with a gun). Are school lunches costing a little bit more? Sophisticated brainwashing techniques are executed to the letter that totally appear to be objective, and it's nothing new for the mass media, or even social media for that matter. What's worse is that every single regulatory agency that most Americans trust to the core are actually ROTTEN to the core, including the FDA, CDC, EPA, DHS, and of course, the AMA, the American Medical Association.

Sharyl Attkisson, previously a top reporter and journalist for the infamous CBS network, sheds light on the way the media controls Americans minds by controlling what we see and hear, instilling fear for many aspects of the news that are not even real. Imagine that. This controls the way many
